What is Via de Cristo?

Via de Cristo, meaning 'the way of Christ,' is a name used by Lutherans to describe a movement of personal Christian renewal.

It is a highly structured, three day weekend retreat designed to strengthen and renew the faith of Christian people and bring them to a new awareness of living in God's grace.

This renewal movement is presented as a combined effort of trained lay people and clergy to assist congregations in the development of Christian leaders.

The purpose of Via de Cristo is based on the fundamentals of Christianity, concentrating on the person and teachings of Jesus Christ. The focus is not on Via de Cristo, but on the local church.

The objective of the movement is to inspire, challenge and equip local church members for Christian action in their homes, churches and communities.

What is a Via de Cristo Weekend?

A Via de Cristo weekend is a three-day retreat that takes place twice a year. It begins on a Thursday evening and concludes on Sunday.

During the three days of a Via de Cristo weekend, participants live together, study together, worship, pray and communicate together seeking to gain a deep, personal, living awareness of their faith and of the responsibility that such a deep awareness involves.

Who Should Attend a Via de Cristo Retreat?

The retreat is designed for those Christians who, having been informed of the methods and aims of the movement, believe that the retreat can strengthen them in their faith and bring them closer to Christ in their discipleship.

Tennessee Via de Cristo currently offers co-ed weekends, meaning that the retreat is for couples, and/or single men and women.

If you are ill or under unusual stress, it is recommended to postpone attendance until you can approach the weekend undistracted and thus can concentrate on the experience.*

What Happens After a Via de Cristo Retreat?

The Via de Cristo movement recognizes the need for helping and supporting the Christian community. The focus of Via de Cristo, therefore is on the local church; to supplement what we learn in our own congregations, equip us to help strengthen and renew the faith of other Christians and, through them, their far congregation and the environment in which they live, work and play.

After the retreat, participants are encouraged to expand their own inner spiritual life, and to become more active disciples of Christ. In the Via de Cristo movement, the community spirit is continued after the three days through reunions of a small group, (often referred to as reunion groups), who meet weekly to support one another in their ongoing experience of spiritual growth and discipleship.
